

The Tiny Shrine Maiden

Kaguya would wake up in her futon one morning, groggily she started sitting up and took a glance around in the room of the shrine that she was currently living in, considering she was the caretaker of it. However something seemed to be a little odd this morning, the surface she was laying on was much softer than it used to be, and there seemed to be large wall of white in front of her that she had never seen before, of course in her current state she could not at all tell that she was still laying on her futon, or in fact the pillow of her futon. Her hands moved up so she could try and rub the sleep out of her eyes, and slowly she started understanding what in the world was actually going on her, taking one more glance around the room she noticed everything was much bigger than it used to be, and now she finally realized it. "Oh my god, I have been shrunk down!!" She would be panicking a bit now and got up to her feet, looking herself over she seemed to have been lucky, as she had gone to bed with her shrine maiden clothing still on they seemed to have shrunk with her, however everything else that she owns would still be their regular size, she slid herself down from the pillow now and onto the futon itself, she was completely alone in the shrine so if she wanted to get help she had to go outside, or wait until her friend returned, which could be in hours, but she hoped she would be coming back much much sooner than that of course.

She started venturing outside the safety of her futon now, walking on the large wooden floor to see if she was able to find something to eat while this size, which might be a rather challenging task if she actually has to open anything to get the food, but she seemed to be lucky enough that there would be a bowl of fruit on the table, the only issue now is to get on top of the table to actually get a bite out of that lovely fruit. Sighing she would look around to see if there was an easy way up, if not then she was pretty much screwed when it comes to food, and even worse is that she was starting to get hungry. Sighing she would turn around and start moving towards the next place she might have put some food. She always put up offering by the altar inside of the shrine and the food there might still be eatable even though it has been laying there for a day or two already, she ran as fast as her tiny legs could carry her towards it and she would clap her hands out of happiness as she saw the food there, climbing onto the plate she would jump on the piece of bread there, starting to nibble on it in a cute way and she could not be any happier for the moment. After finishing up her meal at the altar there she would lay down against an orange and close her eyes to relax.

After another hour or so of sleep she would wake up to the large sounds of somebody else walking around inside of her shrine there. Her eyes slowly opening up and she would look up to the giant hakama of her friend, however the friend did not seem to have noticed the tiny Kaguya laying on the platter down on the ground almost right by her foot. With a little gulp she would get up to her feet and out of the platter, moving closer to the gigantic foot of her friend, of course clad in a tabi she would try and get her attention either way by kicking and pushing against the foot. The poor tiny girl would still not be noticed by her giant friend however and sighed, giving the foot one more kick and suddenly it moved almost landing on top of her with a loud thud. She jumped to the side just in time and rolled across the floor a little as she stared up to her giant friend once more, she looked so intimidating when being this much taller, Kaguya blushed a little and did kind of wish her friend would discover her and maybe play around with her a little bit while she still was tiny. Though she couldn't think about these things now, she got back up to her feet now and ran a little bit away from her friend, waving her arms around and jumping up and down she hoped this would at least bring some sort of attention to her, and it seemed she was lucky this time since her friend would be taking a glance down and blinked a couple of times. "What in the world? Is that a bug?" Yui would be asking herself now before squatting down right above her, even though her hakama would of course be of the long kind it was almost possible to see the white panties underneath them. "Wait...That's not a bug...Kaguya..." She sounded quite shocked, well of course she was shocked considering she had just found her friend being all tiny down on the floor of the shrine she was taking care of.

Kaguya would finally sigh in relief as she had been detected by her friend, waving her arms around a little bit more now before the large hand of Yui would be coming down and two of her fingers would wrap around little Kaguya to pick her up, lifting her all the way up to her face and holding her in front of one of her eyes. "Wow...It really is you too, what happened to you, Kaguya?" She asked curiously, though smiling a little bit. Kaguya blushed when held by her friend and glanced slightly to the side. "I...I am not sure, I just woke up like this and now I have been walking around trying to figure out how to get back, or find someone to help me...And now you came so that's wonderful!" Kaguya would tell her friend and clapped her hands together as she was hanging there between the fingers, Yui would simply giggle at her now and stood back up before walking over to the table and placed her on it, facing Yui's chest now there she winked down. "Well, I can help you but first I wanna play a little with you." She said and poked her teasingly with her finger, making the tiny girl fall down onto her butt and looking up with a curious look. "W-What do you mean play?" But without even getting an answer she would once more be picked up by her friend before she walked over to the futon and laid down in it, fiddling with her hakama some to loosen it up. "You know...Plaaaay." She said with a little laugh and placed Kaguya on top of her breasts, she loosened her kimono a bit too so it would be easier to move underneath it. "You don't mind playing with me, right?" She asked in a cute voice and gave her a little pouty face.

Kaguya could indeed not deny a request from her best friend, and especially when she gave her a face like that, with a blush she started to move around on the breasts and tried to find the opening to the inside, and as she finally did she would easily slip herself underneath and climb over to Yui's nipple, wrapping her arms around it and licking on it. Yui would shiver as she felt the tiny hands and tongue touching her nipple and it was actually a wonderful feeling. "Ahn..." She closed her eyes and relaxed on the futon as Kaguya continued to play with the slowly stiffening nipple of her friend, tugging on it every now and then and giving it light nibbles for the extra effect. Though Kaguya wanted to help her friend more and moved her hands away from the nipple so she could knead it against the breast flesh, her friend had at least a big C or small D-cup so there would be lots of squishyness to be playing around with for her there, her feet kicking into the flesh too while she was there. Yui would open up her eyes soon and pulled open her top so she was able to see the tiny Kaguya on her breast. "Having fun there?" She asked with a smile and stuck out her tongue at her, she would pick up her tiny friend once more now however and slipping out of the rest of her clothes she would be in her panties only, moving Kaguya down over her body before placing her by the waistband of the panties, she would of course also be nice enough to lift up the waistband and allow the tiny girl free passage into the panties. Kaguya squeaked as she got picked up again and stared at the position that she was getting put in, sitting there in front of the opening she turned around to try and look up to her friend. "W-Want me to go in there?" She asked in her squeaky voice, Yui simply gave her a nod in return and grinned.

With an even bigger blush the tiny could would slowly start moving towards the opening of the panties, she could smell her friend already and gulped slightly because of that, when she was all the way in there would be no escape since Yui would let go of the waistband so they snapped right back in place, pressing the tiny girl a little bit against the skin and it did make it harder for her to crawl towards goal. There would be a slope down now and she slipped down it, she didn't wanna fall all the way down in the panties and would end up grabbing onto the lips of Yui's pussy, tugging on them a little bit and Yui would be letting out a cute little sound from above. Kaguya looked up to the pussy she was hanging on to and tried to pull the lips apart using her tiny hands, the smell would increase as the lips slowly parted and Kaguya pushed her face right against the pink flesh inside. "S-Such a lovely smell...And taste." She said slightly muffled, giving it a couple of licks at the same time. She would continue pushing herself into the pussy, wiggling her body around on the inside and she focused on getting into the hole as deep as she could. Yui continued making light moans because of her tiny friend moving around in the pussy. As she got deeper she would push her hands against the pink walls, her feet kicking against the cervix every now and then as she continued to please her best friend. It was strange being this close to her friend, thinking everything through she just started feeling weird, of course it might just be the abundance of pussy juice that is getting to her, including the increasing heat, the tiny girl would be sweating, though it would be kind of hard to see the difference between sweat and juices at the moment.

Kaguya would be feeling dizzy now, her eyes closing every now and then and the movements of her hands would start to lessen. "Ah...Yuiiii...I feel warm and...Dizzy..." Of course it would be impossible for Yui to actually hear the tiny girl that was in her pussy, while speaking she would also end up get a load of pussy juices in her mouth and swallowed most of it. Coughing out the rest however she turned around to lay on her stomach, the walls around her would continue pulsating and more juices dripped over her head. "Help me..." She said with a little whiny voice, though she started realizing that the only way out of there would be to please her friend until she came, her hands would slowly start to move again and rub against the walls, trying to grab onto the walls at the same time and pinching the flesh more or less with her whole hands. It seemed to be working, and it worked well since Yui would remove her panties now to give much easier access to her hand, stroking over her lips with a finger at first before slipping the tip of it inside, she didn't wanna go all in with her fingering and instead simply played around with her pussy with it instead. Kaguya could see the finger of course from her position and she started to crawling towards it, hoping the movements of her tiny body would at least help her out with the final moment of her pleasure, and it seemed to do so because the walls started tightening up more around her now and the juices would be increasing like no tomorrow. Yui could be heard letting out an even louder moan now and the finger moved out of her again, the walls would do the rest of the job just pushing the flood...Well at least a flood for Kaguya...of juices right out of there and onto the futon below. Kaguya felt herself more or less drowning in the fluids while still in there, beaten around as she landed in the pool between her friends' legs. She had passed out from the action and it seemed Yui was not gonna be helping her up just quite yet.

At least an hour or two would have passed before Yui finally woke up again and sat up, seeing herself completely naked with her shrine maiden outfit just thrown all over the floor would make her blush, she also glanced down to see the cum between her legs and just remembered what she had done, reaching down there she used her finger to dig the tiny Kaguya out of the pool and lifted her up, she picked up her kimono and wiped the tiny girl off using the white cloth and then gently shook her. "Wake up sleepy-face." She said with a tease, it did take a while before the tiny girl responded but at least she would wake up now, looking to the giant naked Yui she yelped and turned her head to the side. Yui simply giggled at this and hugged the tiny girl against her breast, standing up she would walk over to the table and place her down on it like she had done before. "T-Thank you for that, Kaguya." She said and winked down to her, turning around she would squat down to pick up her clothes, and she would be dressing herself up again now. "Let's try find a way to return you to normal, unless you like being like this." She said and stuck out her tongue, picking up Kaguya once more. The tiny Kaguya would blush at that and simply nodded at her. "I can...Stay like this for a little while I guess, just please be gentler with me." She told her friend, Yui nodded and placed the little Kaguya down her kimono and between her breasts, at least this would be a very soft spot to be placed. Yui grinned and walked out of the shrine...And it was time to do some cleaning around the shrine, considering it was still midday.